

Arctic

Permanent ice and snow to low levels

Temperate

The Moon and her Dark Companion dance erratically high above, keeping to no set route or schedule. They may be anywhere in the sky from month to month.

Tropical

The Sun passes daily from East to West directly above the Equator, waxing and waning in strength and speed with the seasons.

Temperate

Permanent ice and snow to low levels

Arctic

